How to be sustainable?

The principles of sustainable development, separated as requirements in the European Green Deal, are fundamental to the uptake of effective environmental and social practices in the interaction between shareholders, investors, corporate executives and other stakeholders.

The Green Centre guidelines encourage companies to disclose ESG information to the public periodically, including as part of its non-financial statements. Indicative ESG indicators based on the main internationally established standards in the field are also proposed, which are tailored to the specifics of Bulgarian companies.
